RDC-RISC Metadata Database
https://fgz-risc-data.de/metadata/?id=47
Exported on November 17, 2026.

Protests and social cohesion: comparing local conflict dynamics [Proteste und gesellschaftlicher Zusammenhalt: Lokale Konfliktdynamiken im Vergleich]

interviews

Creator (PIs)

Haunss, Sebastian; Daphi, Priska

Keywords

protest, social movements, counter-movements, urban social movements, urban sociology

Data Type

qualitative

Language

German

Abstract

The data set consists of 13 semi-structured interviews with activists, journalists, and academics who witnessed and/or participated in the counter-protests against the far-right PEGIDA and LEGIDA movements in Dresden and Leipzig between 2014 and 2017.

Contributor

Meier, Larissa; Dollbaum, Jan Matti

Funding Institution

BMBF

Temporal Coverage

1/2014 - 12/2017

Time Dimension

cross-sectional

Sampled Universe

all observers and organizers of the counterprotest against PEGIDA/LEGIDA in Dresden and Leipzig

Sampling

snowball, targeted sampling (when the sampled person had specific information)

Collection Mode

face-to-face, digital

Geograhic Coverage

Leipzig, Dresden

Resource Type

PDF

Availability

Due to anonymity concerns, the data will not be made public. We will contact the RDC Qualiservice on the possibility of making the data available to interested researchers on an individual basis.

Institution

RDC Qualiservice